

Annie Armstrong Easter Offering

What happens when people give to the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering®? Matt and Ruth Lahey know better than almost anyone the answer to that question.

Matt and Ruth live in Newfoundland, a place Canadians refer to as “The Rock.” That’s an appropriate physical description for an island that’s located in the farthest northeast corner of North America. But “The Rock” is also an accurate description of Newfoundland’s spiritual climate.

It used to be that Matt and Ruth Lahey could drive two hours in any direction and not find a single evangelical church. But several years ago, they planted a church in the Newfoundland community of Kilbride, a place that had had no gospel witness for 128 years.

Matt and Ruth were Annie Armstrong featured missionaries in 2023, and the prayers and gifts they received came at the best possible time. “The ways we saw the Lord work in that season took me completely by surprise,” Matt says. “Because of Annie Armstrong, our little church plant was able to move into a new, permanent home. Now, we have a place we can gather and not worry about losing it. And we can show people how the Lord used the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering® to see His kingdom come and His will be done.”

Gifts to the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering® helped Matt and Ruth pay for rent, microphones, Bible study material, and everything else they needed to get Kilbride Community Church up and running. That’s why now, they can’t help but say, “Thanks be to God for His indescribable gift.”
